

128. Methodology

Augustin: So let's go through that again. If you eliminate all the other probabilities what you are left with is the single possibility that it's rather unlikely.

Chrisostomo: Something doesn't sound quite right there.

Augustin: O.K. Let's try it the other way round. If I eliminate all the impossibilities whatever I'm left with however probable can't possibly be.

Chrisostomo: Have another go.

Augustin: However improbable the impossibilities there's probably more chance than there isn't they are.

Chrisostomo: It works for me.